Dear Dr. Jackson & Church Family,

Thank you for the lovely flower basket you sent to my mother's service. It meant so much to our family to know you were praying for us at this time.

We truly felt God's peace as we were able to listen to a tape of my mother singing "The Lord's Prayer" at her service. Again, thank you for all of the kind expressions of sympathy.

Faith@Home ...take home

As parents, we desire for our children to make wise choices throughout their childhood, adolescence, young adulthood and every other stage of life. Yet, are we – as parents – choosing wisely? Are we choosing for our household to “serve the Lord?” (Joshua 24:15). For the people of Israel under Joshua’s leadership, choosing to serve the Lord meant turning aside from the foreign gods they were worshipping. But what does “choosing to serve the Lord” mean for us in 2012? We don’t serve foreign gods – or do we? What about our work, recreation, relationships and – yes – even our spending habits. Who are we serving? If it’s not Christ, perhaps we as parents need to re-evaluate our relationship to Him. When we choose, individually and as a household, to serve Christ, our lives will never be the same. A life serving Him is not only life-changing but full of adventure! What better way to leave an example, a legacy, for our sons and daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, than to have them experience alongside us a life spent serving the One who is the greatest Servant of all – Jesus Christ!

This week sit down as a family and discuss what ways you can make sure your home is serving Him. Then, post your findings on the refrigerator as a reminder.
